

You are responsible for ensuring that the information included in your Supplementary Application is truthful, complete, and correct.

Queen's University reserves the right to verify any information provided as part of your application.

It is an act of serious academic misconduct to provide false or misleading information (either by omission or commission) in your application.

If it is proven, or if the University has reasonable grounds to conclude, that any information in your Supplementary Application, or in any of the material submitted in support of your application, is determined to be:

- false, or
- misleading, or
- written by a third party, or
- written by Generative AI

your application may be invalidated at the absolute and sole discretion of Queen's University.

This could result in the immediate rejection of your application, or the revocation of an offer of admission, or the termination of your registration at Queen's University.

Any such information may be shared by Queen's University with the OUAC and/or with other universities and colleges across Canada.

I declare that I have read and understood the information in this document:
